THE MANAGER EDDIE HOWE

This afternoon we welcome Dougie Freedman and his Bolton Wanderers side; a famous club who have a squad full of players with Premier League and Championship experience.

In our last home game against Millwall we responded really well to conceding two early goals, and showed what a dangerous side we can be in the second half. Not only was it a great reaction from the players but also from you, our supporters. It would have been easy to show frustration, but you stuck with us and together we turned it around.

The international break gave us an opportunity to get a few players back into the squad, and we took the confidence from the Millwall match into a really difficult test at Nottingham Forest. Despite going a goal behind in the first half and losing Stephen Henderson to a really nasty injury, once again the players showed great character and resilience, resulting in a well deserved injury time equaliser.

Last week we travelled to Leicester where after conceding early we got ourselves back in the game and scored at a great time too. Our first half display was very good. In the second half I didn't think we hit the same levels and with ten men it was always going to be difficult.

So having played two of the strongest sides in the Championship in consecutive away games, I think we can take plenty of positives from both matches. We would have liked more points to show for our efforts but I don't feel we are too far away from being able to mix it with the better sides around us.

We also know that anything less than our very best will get punished, and that we have to fight for every single point. While the players continue to do this, your support makes a massive difference.

Thank you to all of those who travelled so far in the last two weeks to get behind the players. I can't tell you how much we appreciate the support.

Eddie

THE SKIPPER

Good afternoon and welcome back to the Goldsands Stadium where today we welcome another club who have recently played in the Premier League; Bolton Wanderers.

It was good to go into the international break with a win in front of our home fans against Millwall. I imagine it must have been a really entertaining game for the neutrals with a hat-full of goals and numerous incidents, both on and off the pitch, but thankfully we came out on top. Forgetting the opening 15 minutes of the game, it was a really accomplished result and one we felt we deserved and knew we needed with two tough away games beckoning.

To gain a point at Forest was a great result, although we felt that on another day it was a match we could have won. The late equaliser from Pughy was fully deserved after so much endeavour from the lads to keep knocking on the door, whilst still continuing to play the good brand of football that we are becoming renowned for.

Then to travel to Leicester just a week later was another tough ask, and despite the result we can be proud that we pushed another top quality side all the way, especially with the form they are showing at home and the wealth of players they have at their disposal. It is easy to see why they are expected to be in the promotion mix-up at the end of the season.

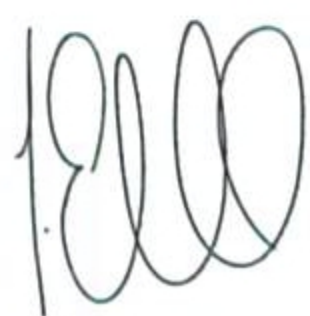

After analysing the game we were pleased with the first half, but with Pughy having given us another platform to kick on from with his goal at the end of the half, we were collectively disappointed that we didn't perform better in the second half. And then going down to ten men so soon after made it an even harder task, but we are not downbeat and felt we gave another really good account of ourselves.

Today is a big match for us as we return home after three weekends away. We want to put on a really good show, and ensure we come away with not only three points but also a clean sheet, as this is something we need to do more of to ensure we are giving our attacking players the chance to win us games.

However, we are under no illusions as to the task ahead. Like our recent opponents Forest and Leicester, Bolton have many experienced players, many of whom also boast Premier League experience. But the more matches we play in this division, the more we feel we deserve to be here just as much as the Boltons, Forests and Leicesters of this division.

Thank you to those of you who have travelled to support us recently. We hope we can put on another entertaining game for you, and we hope to continue to feel your support today!

Enjoy the game!

FROM THE BOARDROOM JEFF MOSTYN

I would like to extend a very warm welcome to the directors, staff, players and supporters from our visitors this afternoon, Bolton Wanderers.

The Trotters are the third illustrious club from the north to visit the Goldsands Stadium this season following Blackpool and Blackburn Rovers. A founder member of the Football League, the club was originally known as Christ Church F.C – they could well have been twinned with us!

We have spoken constantly this season about the challenge of the Championship and the quality of the teams in this division, and today's opponents once again highlight that point. Just two seasons ago the Trotters were competing in the Premier League whilst we were plying our trade in League One.

It is all credit to Eddie, Jason and the boys that they have taken all our opponents in their stride and played with passion and flair without any sign of intimidation.

After two of the most difficult away games of the season at Nottingham Forest and Leicester, it's a welcome return to the Goldsands Stadium this afternoon for Eddie and the boys. With the exception of next week's visit to top of the table Burnley, we now have three home games to look forward to this month. Following this afternoon's game, we host Derby County and Brighton.

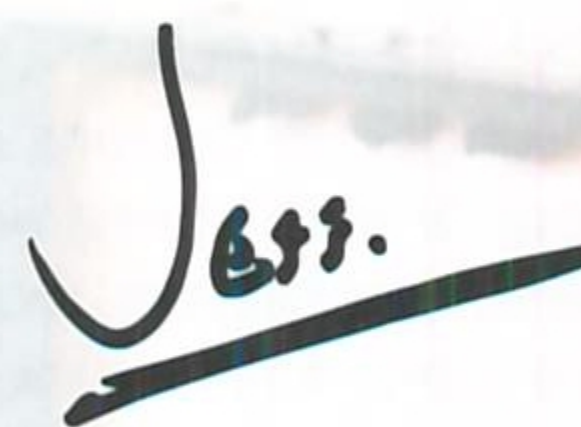

In this division we all know how difficult it is picking up points on the road, and that makes it even more imperative that we all do everything we can to support the boys at home. It's time for us to turn up the volume from start to finish and let our opponents know that they have arrived at the Goldsands and we all mean business. As supporters our attitude has to be the same as the team- we are here to win not just to take part, so let's take that mentality into this game, and every game.

Finally, I would like to thank everyone who supported and sponsored me for the ten mile Great South Run last Sunday. After a week of pain I am just about able to walk again. With your support, I raised over £1000 for Prostate Cancer UK. You have all been amazingly generous.

Let's really turn up the noise today and scream the lads back to winning ways.

Kindest regards,

PAGE 14 - THE ONES TO WATCH / 17 - EXPERT'S OPINION / 18 - THE DEFINING MOMENT

A FAMILIAR FACE

Matt Mills lines up against his former club following a productive spell at the Goldsands Stadium earlier in his career. Mills joined the Cherries on loan from Southampton in 2005 as he looked to establish himself as a first team player, making 12 appearances during his time with the club. The centre half is in his second season at Bolton and optimistic about their chances of moving up the league. "I think the confidence within the squad has noticeably changed in recent weeks," he said. "Players are going into games now excited about what's in store."

PREVIOUS ENCOUNTERS

This afternoon marks the 21st fixture between the Cherries and Bolton after their first meeting in an FA Cup tie in January 1926. After a 2-2 draw at Dean Court, the Trotters continued their progress in the competition with a 6-2 victory. The last competitive game between the two clubs took place 20 years ago, with Rob Murray scoring for the Cherries in a 2-1 home defeat. However, Joe Roach's youth team, featuring Danny Ings, travelled to the Reebok Stadium for an FA Youth Cup tie in December 2009.

FREEDMAN PLANS TO SHUT UP SHOP

Dougie Freedman has urged his side to hold on to leads after dropping points from winning positions in recent weeks. "It certainly gets to be a concern," he admitted. "We have done it in games against Derby, Sheffield Wednesday and others as well - we get in the lead and I think we might now need to change the system right away. It might now be a case of holding on to what we have got rather than going to try and get two or three, which is what I think the fans deserve."

The Trotters

After a difficult start to the season, Bolton have been difficult to beat in recent weeks and arrive at the Goldsands Stadium looking to move up the table.

ANDY LONERGAN

After starting his career with his hometown club Preston North End, Lonerган went to represent Leeds United before a move to Bolton. He made his first appearance of the season last weekend following an injury to first choice Adam Bogdan. "I'm happy to be playing for however long Adam is out for," he said. "I'm confident in myself, but you need games - it is hard to come in for one or two so hopefully I can get a run."

ALEX BAPTISTE

The defender, who is capable of playing anywhere across the backline, started out his career with Mansfield Town as a youngster, going on to spend eight years with the Stags before making the move to Blackpool in 2008. Five seasons with the Tangerines featured both a promotion and a relegation before the 27-year-old made the decision to move on and sign for Bolton in the summer. He has made 15 appearances and scored his first goal for the club in a defeat to Blackburn.

TIM REAM

Having established himself in the MLS, Ream got his first international call up in November 2010 and represented the United States in the 2011 CONCACAF Gold Cup. Ream was forced to cancel his honeymoon when interest from Bolton materialised and he soon joined the club from New York Red Bulls for a reported £2.5million fee. He made his debut in the 2-0 FA Cup victory over Millwall at The Den and has become a virtual ever-present in the first team.

MATT MILLS

Mills is one of two former Cherries players visiting the Goldsands Stadium along with winger Feeney. He made 12 appearances on loan from Southampton in 2005 during the early stages of his career. He later moved to Reading for a reported £2 million fee and helped the Royals reach the Championship play-off final during his two-year stay at the Madejski Stadium. 12 months with Leicester City followed before signing for Bolton last summer.

TYRONE MEARS

Mears' playing time with the Trotters has been restricted due to injury. He broke his leg in a training session ahead of the 2011/12 campaign - just a week after completing his transfer to the Reebok Stadium. He made his debut later that season, but after feeling pain in the same leg that he broke, he underwent a further operation which would rule him out for the rest of the season. But he is back to full fitness and has made three appearances this term.

CHRIS EAGLES

Eagles followed former manager Owen Coyle from Burnley and topped the club's assist charts in his first season at the Reebok Stadium, having been used predominantly out wide. As a youngster, Eagles came through the ranks at Watford before joining Manchester United at the age of 14. Eagles scored his first goal for the Reds in a 4-2 victory at Everton in 2007 - a result which more or less ensured Manchester United would win the Premier League title.

The gaffer: Dougie Freedman

Freedman has quickly established himself as one of the most talented young managers outside the Premier League. In his first managerial role, the Glaswegian helped steer Crystal Palace away from the relegation zone, and then in his first full season in charge enjoyed a memorable run to the League Cup semi-finals, knocking out Manchester United at Old Trafford along the way.

JAY SPEARING

Having impressed during a season-long loan spell, Spearing put pen-to-paper at the Reebok Stadium in the close season, joining from Liverpool. He had previously spent his whole career at his hometown club, apart from a brief spell at Leicester City in 2009 where he made 11 appearances, scoring his only senior career goal against Watford. Spearing made 30 Premier League appearances for the Reds and was included in England Under-21s' provisional 40-man-squad for the 2011 European Championships.

DARREN PRATLEY

Pratley is now in his third season with the club following a free transfer move from Swansea. In his first campaign at the Reebok he made a total of 32 appearances and scored his first Wanderers goal against his former employers in an FA Cup tie. The 27-year-old previously made 199 appearances during a five-year spell with the Welsh outfit, scoring 31 goals. His last outing for the Swans was in the play-off final win over Reading that secured the club's promotion to the Premier League.

ANDRE MORITZ

Moritz has settled in England after an eventful start to his career. He started out with home-town team Avai before signing pro terms with three-time Brazilian champions Internacional. He then briefly represented Fluminense, where he won the Brazilian Cup, before heading to Turkey with Kasimpasa in 2007 where he played for three seasons. But Freedman took him to Selhurst Park last summer where he made a total of 32 appearances in all competitions in Crystal Palace's promotion-winning campaign.

DAVID NGOG

In his first season at the club the 23-year-old established himself as a first team regular, making a total of 39 appearances. Prior to joining the Whites, Ngog had three years' worth of experience in the Premier League, having first moved to England from Paris St Germain in 2008. During his time at Anfield, the pacey frontman netted a total of 19 goals. Ngog has earned honours for France from Under-16 level through to the Under-21 set-up.

JERMAINE BECKFORD

It was with Leeds United that Beckford made his mark on the game, averaging a goal almost every two games including a memorable strike against Manchester United in the FA Cup. The 29-year-old went on to represent Everton, Leicester City and most recently had a loan spell with Huddersfield Town before putting pen to paper on a two-year deal at the Reebok. His goal set Bolton on their way to three points and a win over Birmingham City before the international break.

on the bench...

37 LEE-BARRETT

Free agent signed on a short-term deal to come in as an understudy for Loneragan.

31 DAVID WHEATER

The former England Under-21 international joined the club while they were in the Premier League and is highly rated by the coaching staff.

12 ZAT KNIGHT

Standing at 6'6" tall, Knight has a wealth of experience and adds a towering presence to the back four.

27 CHUNG-YONG LEE

The club's player of the year in 2010 is a key player for South Korea and has represented his country at a World Cup.

44 MEDO KAMARA

Born and raised in Sierra Leone, Mohamed Kamara joined the club after the turn of the year from Partizan Belgrade.

28 CRAIG DAVIES

The Wales international moved to the Reebok Stadium in January and has a proven track record of successfully finding the back of the net.

11 ROBERT HALL

The winger had spent a short spell on loan with the club last season, impressing enough to be offered a permanent deal.

Expert's Opinion

Bolton News reporter Marc Iles assesses the visitors' start to the season and the contribution of former Cherries players Liam Feeney and Matt Mills to the Trotters' cause.

How would you describe Bolton's start to the season?

Not the best to say the least. Dougie Freedman has had problems with injuries, which seems to have been an issue for every Bolton manager for the last few years. But I don't think you can hide from the fact that they haven't done as well as expected. It was a particularly bad start to the season, but Dougie has stopped them losing games and the trick now is to turn draws into wins.

Has the slow start come as a surprise, considering Bolton finished last season as one of the Championship's form teams?

Very much so. The team have been struggling to keep clean sheets, which was something that seemed to have been remedied towards the end of last season. Now, they are struggling for goals a little bit, which is something we weren't really doing towards the tail end of last season. It's been a case of going back to the drawing board and turning things around slowly. Hopefully this is the watershed, so to speak, and things can improve from here.

Liam Feeney was recently on loan at the Reebok Stadium. What kind of impact did he have?

He was great and a breath of fresh air when he came in. He's an old fashioned winger and suited the style that Dougie needed at the time. He worked up and down the right hand side with another loanee Kevin McNaughton, who has been fantastic. It was a big loss because there were no like-for-like replacements when Feeney went back to Millwall.

Feeney is out of contract at the end of the season. Is there a chance he could return to the club on a permanent basis in the summer?

Dougie has hinted at it. There was a fee agreed between the two clubs, which was meant to kick in in January, but they have decided to call him back early. Best of luck to him because he was great for Bolton, but there's no doubt not having him on Saturday affected the result (a 1-1 home draw with Ipswich Town).

Matt Mills is another former Cherries player. Is he a key component in the Bolton team?

He has really transformed over the last two or three months. Matt came in from Leicester City with a great reputation, but he came in to a struggling team at first. He had a couple of fitness issues just when he seemed to be bedding in and hamstring problems, which really set him back. It wasn't until a couple of months ago that he looked like the player we thought we were getting. But he's been man of the match in each of the last two or three weeks and forged a good partnership alongside Tim Ream.

In your opinion, would Bolton settle for a point this afternoon? Or do they need all three?

When you look at the league table, they have to start making some progress. Three points can help you move up a couple of places and I think with the way the club is at the minute, they do need it. It's not win or bust at this stage of the season, but I'm sure Dougie appreciates what a win would do for the supporters.

Defining Moment

Jay-Jay O'Kocha curls in a free-kick as Bolton Wanderers maintained their Premier League status on the final day of the 2002/03 season. It proved to be the platform for the club to finish in the top six and compete in Europe for the first time in its history.

ENGLAND UNDER 16S

England-U16s are back in action early next month when they host Northern Ireland in their second Victory Shield game of the campaign.

Kenny Swain's team got off to a winning start two weeks ago, beating Wales 1-0 in Kidderminster, courtesy of a goal from Chelsea's Charlie Wakefield.

Swain has selected a different squad for this fixture, as he aims to see as many players in international action as possible this season.

He said: "Over the last four or five years, the number of players challenging for a place in the squad has increased and there are now more players threatening to get into the squad than ever before.

"This year, we've got around 50 players to look at where in the past it has been closer to 30.

"We need to challenge our best players more on the international stage and give more opportunities to the players who are really threatening to get into the squad."

As a result, Swain's group for this game is largely made up of players receiving their first England call-up, although Chelsea's Jacob Maddox is back in the squad after being forced out of the Wales game through injury.

Northern Ireland will arrive on the south coast after starting their Victory Shield campaign with a 3-0 defeat at home to Scotland in Ballymena earlier this week.

Tickets for the game in Bournemouth cost £3 for adults and £1.50 for U16s and are available by calling 0844 576 1910 or emailing tickets@afcb.co.uk

LEWIS GRABBAN MAKING HEADLINES

EVER-PRESENT IN EDDIE HOWE'S SIDE THIS SEASON, IN A RARE INTERVIEW IN-FORM STRIKER LEWIS GRABBAN TELLS MATCHDAY WHY HE PREFERS TO LET HIS FOOTBALL DO THE TALKING.

A season opening 2-1 victory over Charlton Athletic and the feel good factor in the Cherries tunnel is evident.

But whilst certain players come out prepared to talk to the media, and quite frankly anyone who will listen, the man whose brace sunk the Addicks, Lewis Grabban, tries to skulk out and shy away from praise from those outside the changing room.

"I don't mind doing interviews, it's not a problem as long as they ask the right questions," Grabban smiles when asked about his attitude towards the media.

"Football is a strange game, it can change very quickly and you can go from being on a high to a low very quickly, so I try and stay a bit humble and get on with it.

"Maybe at the end of the season you can look back and say you've had a good season but during the season I think it's good to just concentrate on every game.

"I just try and get good appearances and good performances each week, and not talk about it too much."

And Grabban has continually produced 'good performances' so far this season, with arguably his best coming in the last home match against Millwall.

Having joined the Lions in 2008, two loan spells and three years later, Grabban fell out of favour at the Den and moved across the capital to Brentford.

And so when facing his former club and the torrents of abuse from the 1,378 visiting supporters for the first time since he left at the Goldsands Stadium last month, he went out with a point to prove.

"We went 2-0 down so obviously I wasn't happy to start with, but to come out at half time and turn it round, it ended up being a good performance and for myself I ended up getting a goal so it was a good of yourself when you play against them, and I was happy to do it that day.

"I think that maybe I just wasn't really suited to what the fans preferred to see down there, but I'm not putting all the fans in one bracket because I know some of them liked me.

"When I was there they played in a certain way and, along with some of the other things on my part, it didn't end up working out."

Although that match is the highlight the striker picks out from the season so far, day all round" he reflects.

"I was aware of the chanting from their supporters but to be honest personally I don't mind that as long as it isn't too over the top. It's always going to happen because it's part of the game nowadays.

"My time at Millwall started off ok but it didn't last for that long and I ended up not playing as many games as I wanted to and that was it for me there.

"A lot of players leave clubs with something still to prove, it's not anything vindictive but you always want to do well and give a good account it is no wonder that when the question is put to him, he pauses; after all he has been one of the standout performers for the side this season with seven goals in 13 league matches.

"At the start of the season I just wanted to get consistent performances and just get as many goals as possible, and fortunately 13 games in I have been able to get seven so it's been successful so far.

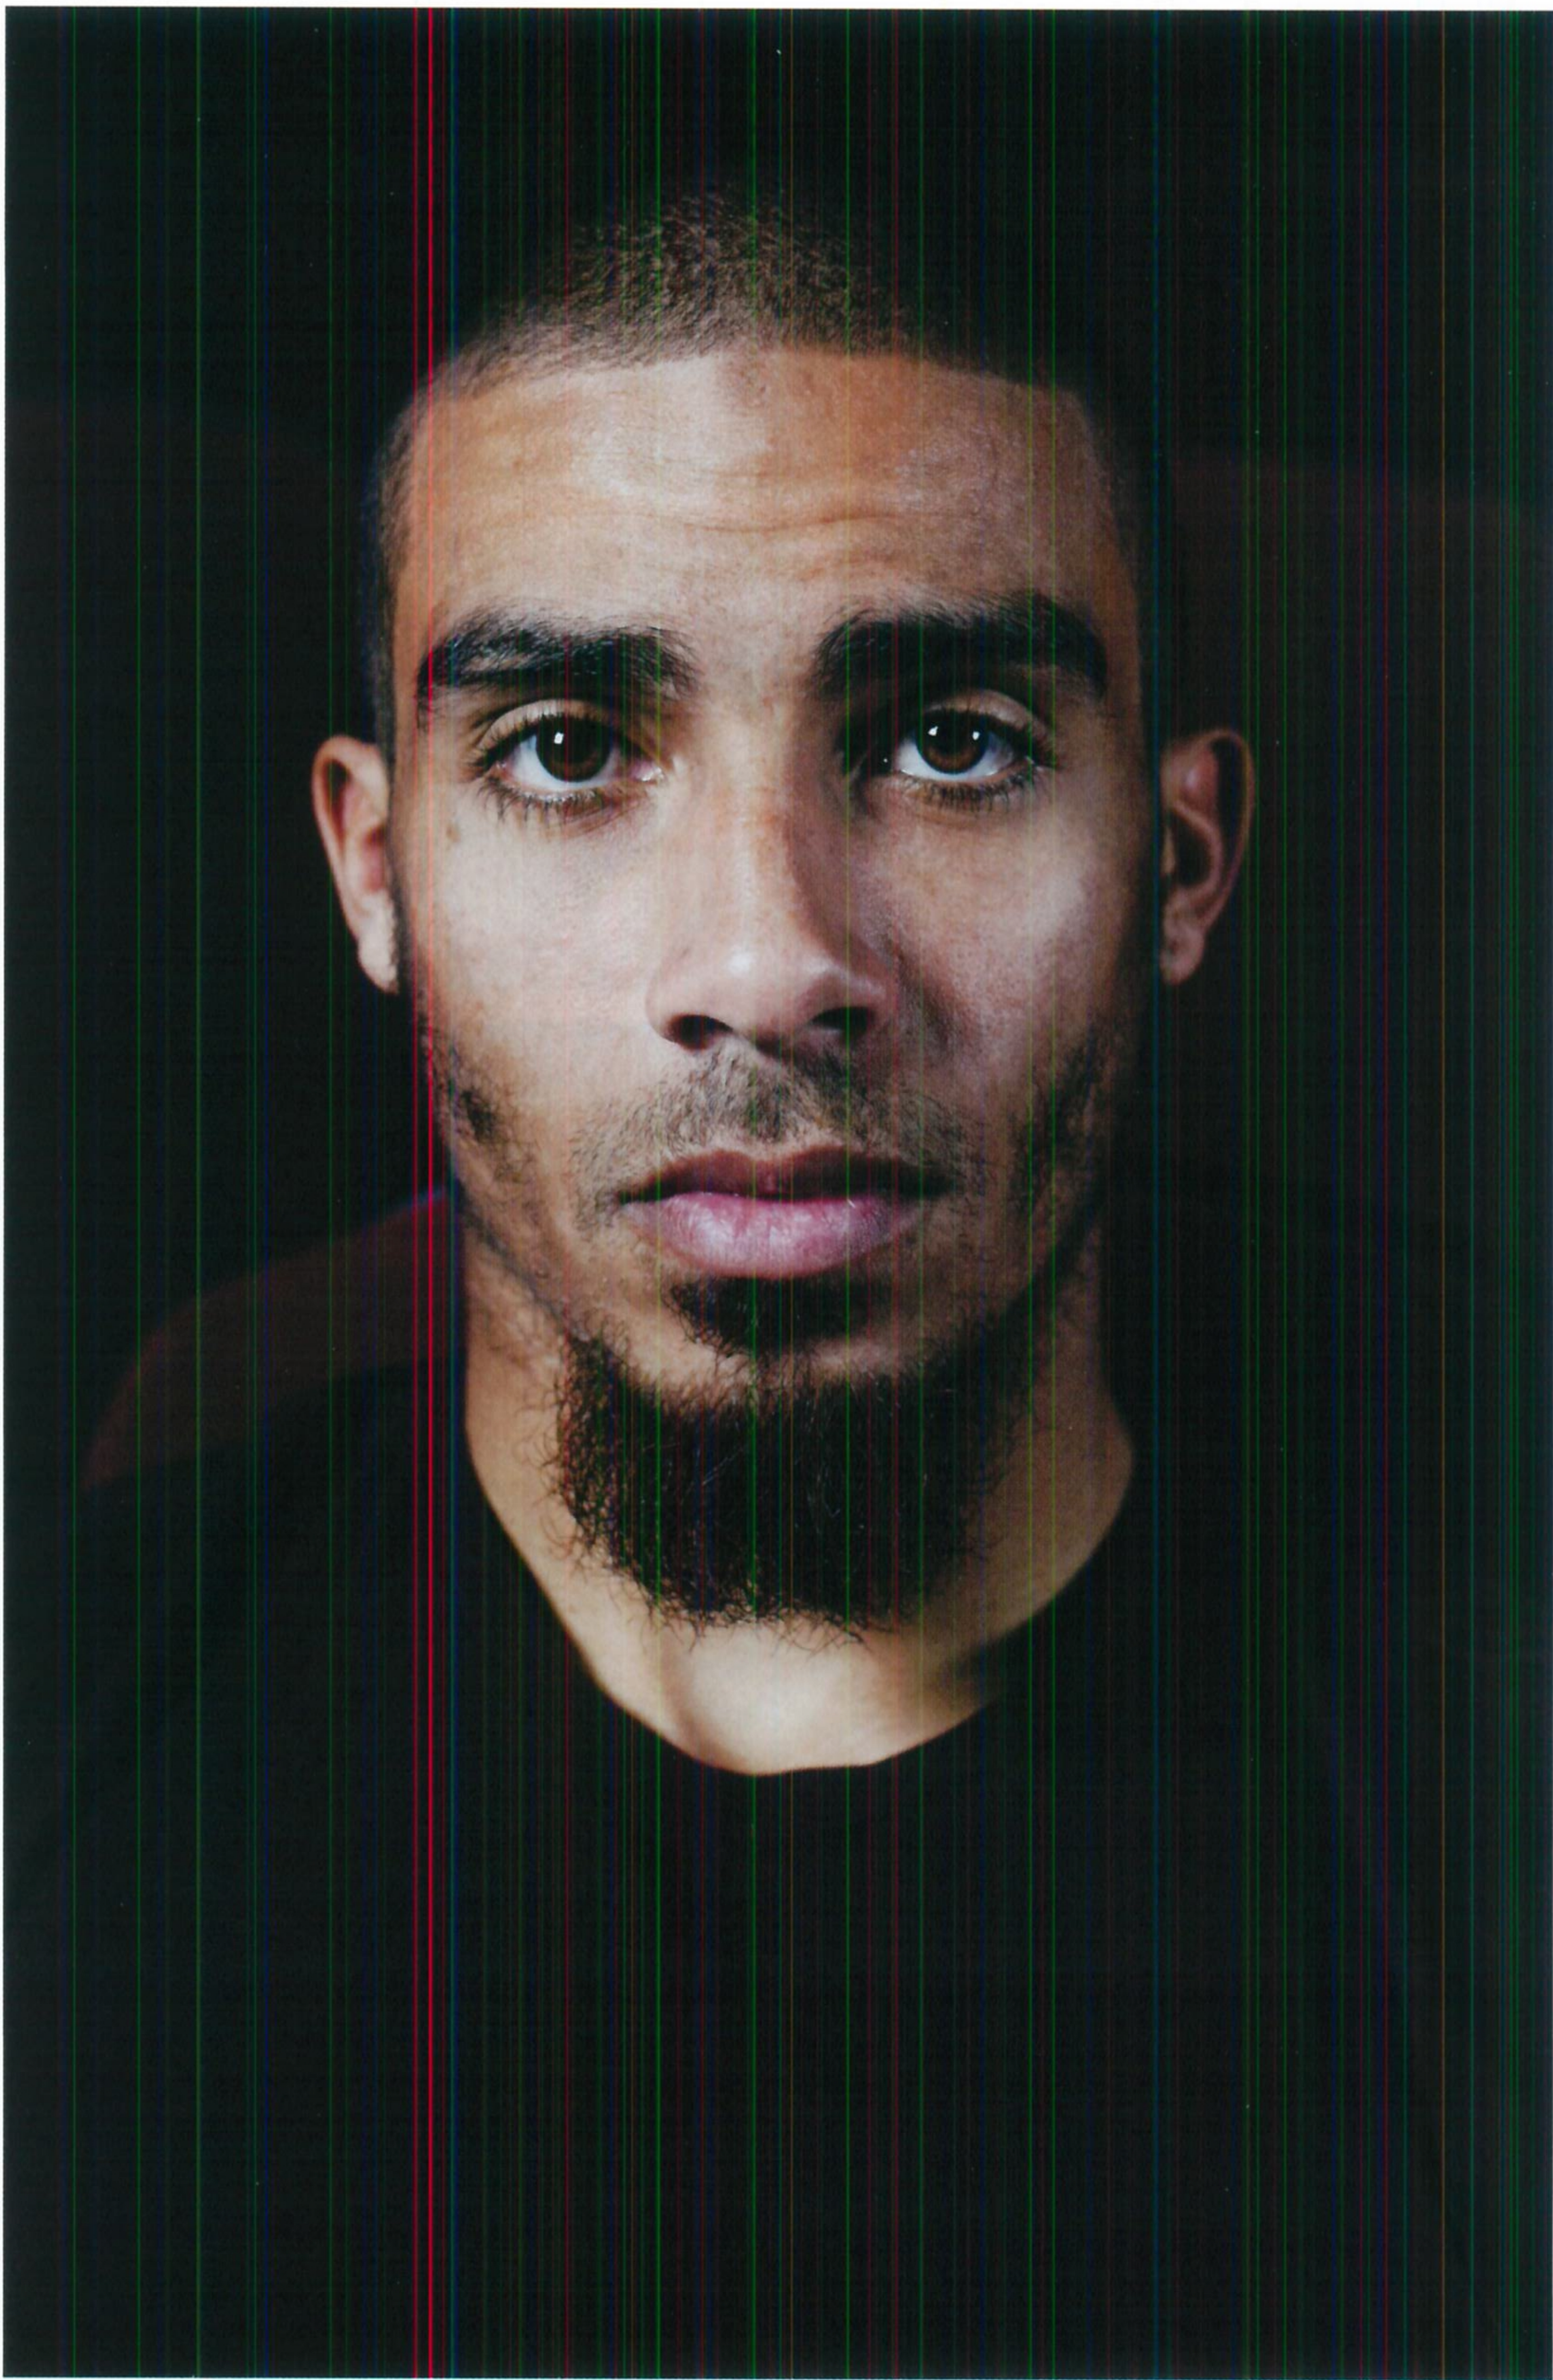

"I didn't get as many goals as I wanted to last season in the end after a good start.

"I just think sometimes they (the goals) dry up and it was unfortunate that at that time in the season when they did, we had a bit of a losing streak and we could have done with the goals that I was getting before.

“But these things happen so I didn’t worry about it coming into this season; it wasn’t much of a concern.”

Getting back to this level has been a long time coming for the 25-year-old.

Starting his career with now Premier League side Crystal Palace, he experienced loan spells at Oldham and Motherwell before moving back to London to join the Lions.

A brief stint at Brentford followed before he finally established himself back on the football map at League Two side Rotherham; the place where his performances caught the eye and earned him a move to the south coast last summer.

“Although I have had to step down leagues, I’ve always been confident in my ability that I could play at a higher level and by stepping down it meant I was able to get games consistently.

“Rotherham was what I needed at the time. I had become a bit of a ghost in the football world for 18 months and needed to get back on the map and remind people that I can play football, so it was good to go up there and play 40 games and get goals; it was a good experience.

“When Bournemouth showed their interest I had a feeling that they had ambition to get into the Championship fairly quickly with the new ownership and the regime and footballing scheme that was in place.

“We got promoted and it felt like a weight off my shoulders to be honest - just being able to accomplish something and to feel part of it. I had promotion with Millwall but it wasn’t the same feeling; it felt like I got promoted with people that I actually get along with.

“I have been able to play near enough every game here barring injury and when I’ve been suspended. For me it’s being able to be in the us and then he puts it into our hands to complete the task that he puts ahead so it’s quite simple.

“He picks people on merit, on who is doing well in training and in the games. At the moment I’ve been doing well so that’s why he’s picking me but if I start doing badly I know he will drop me so I need to keep being consistent.”

Should Grabban start this afternoon it will be his 18th consecutive league start for the club, and although he admits life in the Championship has been a steep learning curve for the side, he believes that team week in week out and that’s what I have done.”

And despite not being signed by current manager Eddie Howe, the striker has continued to impress, with the manager recently being quoted as saying that he is now one of the first names on his team sheet.

But in his typically modest style, Grabban says he knows that this means nothing unless he keeps performing.

“The manager instils confidence in us and made things a bit more regimented when he came in. He makes it clear what he wants from signs so far are good.

“We have been losing, winning, losing, winning, so we need more consistency especially on the road, which we are starting to get.

“I think we will be fine to be honest at the end of the season. It would be a big ask to do what we did last season but I think we are doing well and do have the ability to push on, the ability to reach higher heights is definitely there.”

CHAMPIONSHIP REVIEW

BY MARK MITCHENER

A comprehensive review of the latest news from around the Sky Bet Championship.

RAMS ARE NEXT VISITORS

Derby County will be the next visitors to the Goldsands Stadium, arriving in three weeks' time for their first league meeting with the Cherries since January 1986, when the sides drew 1-1 in the old Third Division. Indeed, the sides have only met six times in competitive matches, with Derby's only success on the south coast coming in the third round of the 1946-47 FA Cup, while the sides also met in the short-lived Simod Cup in November 1988. The Rams have not lost since Steve McClaren's arrival as head coach at the start of the month, beating Leeds and Watford before drawing 1-1 with Birmingham last Saturday. McClaren has signed Tottenham forward Simon Dawkins on a three-month loan, while Liverpool defender Andre Wisdom will spend the rest of the campaign on loan at Pride Park, although striker Johnny Russell has been side-lined with a fractured fibula. Meanwhile, McClaren's predecessor Nigel Clough, sacked by Derby in September, was named as League One side Sheffield United's new manager last week.

MOWBRAY DEPARTS AS BORO BOSS

Middlesbrough parted company with boss Tony Mowbray on 21 October after the popular former Boro captain spent three years in the managerial hot seat. The Teesside club finished seventh and 16th in his two full seasons in charge, but a disappointing run of results in the last 10 months – including only five wins from 33 league games – cost him his job. Mowbray has also previously managed Hibernian, West Brom and Celtic. His assistant Mark Venus has taken temporary charge, winning his first match 4-0 against Doncaster last weekend while signing Spanish defender Daniel Ayala on a three-month loan from Norwich, and they visit Blackburn today.

ONYEWU EARNS QPR CONTRACT

Queens Park Rangers remain among the early Championship leaders, and have recently signed United States international defender Oguchi Onyewu on a short-term contract. The 31-year-old, who has 68 caps for the USA, had been training with QPR following his summer release by Sporting Lisbon. Meanwhile, teenage Rangers midfielder Frankie Sutherland has moved across London to join League One leaders Leyton Orient on a month's loan, while returning to the capital has been Millwall's ex-Bournemouth winger Liam Feeney, who has been recalled from his loan spell at today's visitors Bolton earlier than expected.

LEEDS CAPTURE BLACKSTOCK AND ZALIUKAS

Leeds boss Brian McDermott has replenished his squad in the last fortnight by signing ex-Southampton striker Dexter Blackstock on loan until January from Championship rivals Nottingham Forest (whose manager Billy Davies recently signed a four-year contract extension). Also moving to Elland Road has been Lithuania defender Marius Zaliukas, who has signed until the end of the season after being released by Hearts during the summer. Fellow defender Aidy White has moved down the M1 to join Sheffield United on loan until January, while Leeds have suspended winger Ryan Hall – who has just returned from a loan spell with the Blades – pending an internal investigation into a disciplinary issue.

LITA ARRIVES AT BRIGHTON

Brighton have signed Swansea striker Leroy Lita on loan until January. The 28-year-old, who counts Bristol City, Reading, Charlton, Norwich and Middlesbrough among his former clubs, has not made a Premier League appearance for Swansea since April 2012, and spent much of last season on loan at Birmingham and Sheffield Wednesday. His chance with Brighton comes after Seagulls striker Leonardo Ulloa (broken foot) joined fellow forwards Craig Mackail-Smith (Achilles) and Will Hoskins (knee) on the sidelines. Meanwhile, ex-Brighton defender Adam Virgo has announced his retirement aged 30 because of a knee injury, ending a career which took in two spells with the Seagulls as well as stints with Exeter, Celtic, Coventry, Colchester, Yeovil and Bristol Rovers.

MALONEY BLOW FOR WIGAN

Wigan have been dealt a blow after midfielder Shaun Maloney was forced to undergo surgery on the hip problem which has plagued him since the summer. The Scotland international is set to miss at least three months of action, while goalkeeper Scott Carson is set to join him in the treatment room for a few weeks because of an ankle injury. However, manager Owen Coyle has moved to sign Aston Villa winger Marc Albrighton on loan, while young Latics defender Rob Kiernan and midfielder Fraser Fyvie have moved to join Southend and Yeovil respectively on loan until January. Wigan's recent game at Blackpool was the match in which Seasiders manager Paul Ince began a five-game stadium ban handed to him by the FA for his conduct towards a match official during Blackpool's win here at the Goldsands Stadium in September.

MARTINEZ JOINS STRUGGLING OWLS

Sheffield Wednesday, still without a win this season, have signed young Argentine goalkeeper Damian Martinez on a month's loan from Premier League giants Arsenal. The 21-year-old has so far been an unused substitute as the Owls played out four 1-1 draws in succession during October against Brighton, Ipswich, Bolton and Barnsley. Wednesday have also extended Hull striker Matty Fryatt's loan for a second month, while the club have confirmed that jailed striker Gary Madine intends to appeal against his conviction. Madine, 23, was recently sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment for assaulting two fans in separate attacks in nightclubs in 2012.

Joe Partington doesn't like losing and the holes in one of the walls in his old flat are evidence of that. However, the damage wasn't done after a first team game, it was following a FIFA Club session with some of his team-mates when a controller was thrown in frustration. "You never want to lose, but it's hard to take because a lot of people are bad winners," he jokes.

"We play almost every afternoon and it's so competitive," Steve Cook adds. "It gets intense and the rivalries can be a bit scary at times."

Partington, Cook, Richard Hughes, Simon Francis and Harry Arter make up the core of the self-titled FIFA Club which meets on an almost daily basis, while 'guest players' are occasionally invited to play. Lewis Grabban received the most recent call-up and proved to be an effective unknown quantity. "He didn't even know how to shoot, but we allowed him to come in. I partnered him and we went four unbeaten against two pairings that claim they're the best," Partington says.

But playing time isn't restricted to midweek afternoons, with tournaments regularly taking place on the journeys to away fixtures. "A few of the lads who aren't in the regular FIFA Club try and make statements in the tournaments on away trips, but most of the time they don't," Partington continues. "But credit to Marc Pugh and Shaun MacDonald because they won the last one."

David James was reportedly a gaming addict during his time at Liverpool, spending up to eight hours a day on the PlayStation. The story became legend and even 15 years on supporters would shout, "Oi Jamo, where's your Nintendo?" while he was stood in goal. However, when the former England goalkeeper joined the club last season for a brief six-month stay he failed to live up to his famous reputation, according to Cook. "Jamo was not very good," he says. "He thought he was, but he wasn't the best. He was partners with a decent player on it and that brought a smile to my face."

The defender also describes Football Manager as a 'massive' part of his off-field activities, claiming that there isn't a major honour he hasn't won at club or international level. However, he admits to smashing a laptop last season during one particular challenging period.

While the appeal of the game to the normal supporter lies in the possibility of guiding their club to almost unrealistic

Shaun MacDonald last season but they never used to make it that far in the tournaments."

FIFA is one of the planet's best-selling video games, shifting in excess of 15 million copies last year, and it's as popular with those on the pitch as it is with the supporters in the stands. For some of the players in the early stages of their career, playing the series was as much a part of their childhood as working towards a career in the game. "I used to play FIFA as a kid, so to be on the game is nice," Cook adds. "My nephew rang me up the other day and told me I was heights, it's slightly different for those featured on the Sports Interactive title. "I like to get myself on a good contract at a big club, but it's always interesting to see how I get on after a few years," the defender admits.

Football Manager is the result of the hard work of 1,500 voluntary researchers across more than 50 countries, rating every aspect of players' games from finishing to tackling, injury proneness to composure.

"DAVID JAMES WASN'T VERY GOOD. HE WAS PARTNERS WITH SHAUN MACDONALD LAST SEASON, BUT THEY NEVER USED TO MAKE IT FAR IN THE TOURNAMENTS."

Lee, a 25-year-old marketing executive and north stand season ticket holder. Detailing the strengths and weakness of every youth team, development squad and first team player at the club is a significant task and one that requires complete objectivity.

"Of course, it is always difficult. I am one person with one opinion. However, I have tried to keep any emotion out of my research," he explains. "It is a lot harder when the club is in the Championship for the first time in a couple of decades and you are trying to compare your players at a level where you haven't seen many of them.

"We have a guide which I have stuck to and I am sure there will be fans that agree with the stats and some that don't. But the more accurate the information, the more enjoyable the game will be."

For players who dedicated their lives to football, it's understandable that they might want to escape the game for a few hours in the afternoon. But Partington can't put his finger on what makes the FIFA series so popular amongst players.

"I don't know really, it's just a good game," he says.

"We enjoy it because it's competitive and we play it for the same reasons that everyone else does. We've got quite a good Call Of Duty school and I know some of the lads like to play Grand Theft Auto, but, for me, FIFA will always be the best."

"That was an entertaining game," said the wife following her first ever visit to watch the Cherries in action.

The event that inspired her to join me at the Court was our son being one of the mascots for the home game against Blackpool. Three goals and two sendings off? Yes, I would agree that that was quite compelling stuff. Even though we lost 2-1, she went home fairly happy.

So what does entertain us? Is it the sexy football Sir Eddie Howe tries to instill into our players, passing out from the back and sticking to his principles no matter what? Or is it watching Ryan Fraser and Marc Pugh dancing down the wings and turning defenders inside out? Maybe it's seeing Shaun MacDonald flatten Cristiano Ronaldo, or wondering when Harry Arter will get booked? Or perhaps it's speculating on who would win a 100 metre sprint between Tokelo Rantie, Lewis Grabban and Mohamed Coulibaly? I'm sure most defenders would not want to take them on in a race!

We must not forget the entertainment on offer off the pitch at Dean Court these days. In the hours before kick off in the Junior Fanzone, kids can have their faces painted, play football with Cherry Bear or watch the Cherriettes practice. There is also the half time entertainment provided by Mike Botto. His games of cross bar challenge and Zorbing are always great to watch, even if we think we could do better given half a chance!

Of course, we all want to win every game regardless of whether it is entertaining or not, but value for money is another important factor to consider. A friend of mine who has an Arsenal season ticket pays about £56 per game for just one seat at the Emirates Stadium. We have three season tickets in the Family Stand here at Dean Court and it is £13 in total for us all to come and watch every week. It might be the Premier League versus the Championship, but is he entertained more than we are here at AFCB? I would say a resounding "No!"

We are all here today to watch AFCB play football and enjoy the whole match day experience. For us that starts at about 10am on a Saturday morning. We go into Bournemouth for a coffee and a quick look around the town in our shirts. Then it's home for midday for lunch so we are ready to go to Dean Court at 1pm.

We like to have a walk around the ground, go into the club shop and then go through the turnstile at about 2pm so we can watch the players warm up, get the feel of the big day and size up our opposition. This is when the buzz really starts and the expectation begins to build. By 3pm we are firmly in our seats, ready to enjoy the shared emotions of what we hope will be another victory for the team.

We all wish that one day the mighty Cherries will be in the Premier League, and then the whole footballing world will be able to enjoy the entertainment that we have all come to know and love over the years. This may seem like a dream, but as our recent performances at Leicester and Nottingham Forest have shown, we are holding our own in this division and there is no reason to think that we won't continue to get stronger.

Let's sing our hearts out for the boys today and go home happy and with all three points. UTCIAD and let them entertain us!

DEVELOPMENT CENTRES PRODUCE MORE TALENTED YOUNGSTERS

Technical development centre manager Matty Holmes has praised the work of the academy and development centre staff as three more players sign for the club ahead of today's match.

The Cherries now host numerous development centres across Dorset, and with a number of players having signed recently, Holmes believes the club now have an impressive set-up to help nurture the club's future stars.

"It is fantastic news to see that boys are coming through our development process," Holmes tells Matchday. "We have had a number of players that have recently developed through the foundation under-seven to 11 age group, and under-12 to 16 development centre manager Terry Wateridge has also recently guided three players through the development centre structure into the academy.

"The standard is now starting to rise, and I am delighted that after all the hard work that Terry, Andy (Howe) and goalkeeping coach Dave Walsh have put in, players are starting to progress into the academy.

"With the new scouting set-up boasting 20 active scouts, we are receiving lots of reports on local players.

"This can only raise the standards of our development centre and academy squads when we are now actively watching around 20 games a weekend in our local leagues."

Today there are three players signing for the academy, two of whom are goalkeepers.

'Keeper Lucas Barringer will be signing for the under-10s having been scouted whilst attending 'Between the Sticks' sessions with Neil Moss and Dave Walsh, whilst Ben Humby will be signing for the under-11s, having joined from Oakwood Youth after being recommended by Wayne Brown at 'Just for Keepers' in Southampton.

And Holmes was particularly pleased at the pedigree of young goalkeepers the club is currently bringing through.

"Dave Walsh our development centre goalkeeper coach has close links working with Neil Moss, and also other goalkeeping coaches around the area to spot any talented goalkeepers.

"Dave has two goalkeepers signing on the pitch today, having also signed under-14 George Beavis and under-15 Kyran O'Neil this season."

Left-sided player Oliver Mayo will also be signing for the club today having joined from Bere Regis football club. Oliver has previously played for Arsenal soccer schools, and his attributes include good balance and he loves to dribble with the ball.

MOSTYN COMPLETES RUN IN MEMORY OF BOND

Chairman Jeff Mostyn raised over £1000 for Prostate Cancer UK as he completed the BUPA Great South Run in tribute to former Cherries manager John Bond.

The recently appointed Cherries chairman completed the ten-mile run through Portsmouth alongside his wife Rose in a time of one hour and 57 minutes last Sunday (27th October).

"It was fantastic to be able to raise money for such an important charity and one that is close to John's family's heart and mine," Mostyn said.

"I would like to thank everyone who sent donations and messages over the last few weeks and months because I really appreciate their support."

There's still time to donate and to do so please visit justgiving.com/jeff-mostyn.

JACK STRIKES IN THE NICK OF TIME TO RESCUE THE WANDERERS!

Saturday 30th January 1926 F.A. Cup 4th Round
BOURNEMOUTH & BOSCOMBE 2

The appointment of former Arsenal manager Leslie Knighton as Boscombe secretary-manager at the start of the 1925/26 season brought about an immediate upturn in the club's fortunes. His appointment allowed former trainer-manager Harry Kinghorn to concentrate solely on the training of the team and as well as making progress in the League, they also reached the Fourth Round of the F.A. Cup. Here, victories over Merthyr, Brentford and Reading were rewarded with a real 'plum' tie against First Division Bolton Wanderers.

The Trotters had won the F.A. Cup in the first-ever Wembley final in 1923 and seven of that cup-winning side turned out on a very wet day at Dean Court. The rain fell in torrents throughout the game and a temporary tarpaulin cover which had been erected for spectators outside the stand proved useless. As a result of the weather and a decision to charge double the normal admission prices, the crowd was a disappointing 10,165, which was 1,785 less than the attendance for the visit of Reading in the previous round!

After only 15 minutes play Bolton lost their right-half Bill Cope, who left the field suffering from concussion following a collision with Cherries forward Ronnie Eyre, and were forced to play the rest of the game with ten men. However, they still managed to take the lead ten minutes later when John Smith fired home from Ted Vizard's corner kick. Not to be outdone, Boscombe fought back and scored twice within three minutes. First Arthur Roe's free-kick found Francis Stringfellow unmarked in front of goal and the inside-right calmly placed the ball past goalkeeper Dick Pym. Then left-half Charles Smith gathered the ball on the half-way line before moving upfield, beating two Bolton defenders on the way, before sending in a shot which Pym, at full stretch, could only deflect into the path of Leslie Roberts who walked the ball into the net. The Cherries deservedly held on to their lead until five minutes from the end when England International inside-forward David Jack came to Bolton's rescue. The master tactician stood well away from the group of players lined up for a corner kick and upon receiving the ball, lofted it over the heads of the defenders and goalkeeper and watched it sail gently into the net. After the match, the Bolton directors, never having been more thankful for a draw, promised to invite the Boscombe directors to be their guests at Wembley if they reached the final!

For the replay at Burnden Park the following Wednesday, Bolton made two changes, the injured Cope was replaced by Harry Nuttall and Joe Smith came in for Jack Baggett. Boscombe were unchanged and shook the crowd of over 24,000 by taking the lead after only seven minutes when Len Butt netted direct from a free-kick. They held the advantage for thirteen minutes, after which the First Division side took command. Joe Smith made an enormous difference to the attack and his neat footwork and passing frequently had the Cherries defence in trouble. Before the interval he scored two goals and, with further strikes from Boston and Jack, the Wanderers were in a very happy position by half-time. Boscombe did not give up the fight however, and sandwiched between two more Bolton goals from John Smith was a neat goal from Eyre.

When the Cherries party departed from Burnden Park after the match, they left behind one of their best forwards, Leslie Roberts, whose transfer to the Lancashire club was completed soon after the final whistle had blown. Two or three other First Division clubs had been negotiating for his signature but as Bolton's bid of almost £2,000 - a substantial sum in those days - exceeded what the others were willing to pay, the inside-left signed for the Trotters.

Roberts was of course cup-tied and unable to play any further part in the competition but Bolton's Fifth Round tie brought a straightforward 3-0 victory against South Shields. Their Quarter-Final against Nottingham Forest however, required a second replay before Wanderers emerged victorious. They then drew Swansea Town, the last remaining Second Division club in the Semi-Final, where three early goals gave them a comfortable passage to the Final.

Their opponents at Wembley were Manchester City and in a game where Bolton held the upper hand throughout, a goal fourteen minutes from time by David Jack proved enough to win them the trophy. Amongst those present in the crowd of 91,447 was a party from Boscombe, the little club who had given Wanderers a big fright on the way to Wembley, who spent a very enjoyable weekend in London as guests of the Bolton directors!

HARRY CORNICK

A TALE OF TWO TRIALS

REJECTED BY THE CLUB AS A 12-YEAR-OLD, HARRY CORNICK IS LOOKING TO MAKE THE MOST OF HIS SECOND CHANCE AT AFC BOURNEMOUTH.

He didn't know it at the time, but this was the game that would change Harry Cornick's life. It wasn't a cup final or title decider, but a reserve team game in front of a few hundred people on a cold November afternoon.

Bristol Rovers were the visitors to the Goldsands Stadium and Cornick, on trial from Wessex League side Christchurch, was on the bench. A strong Cherries side featuring Steve Cook, Eunan O'Kane and Wes Fogden were firmly in control by the time the Poole Grammar pupil came on for the substitute appearance that convinced Eddie Howe he was worth an 18-month contract.

It took Cornick less than two minutes to find the back of the net, collecting the ball on the edge of the area, driving past his marker and drilling home with his right foot in a 4-1 win.

Sat in the Hurn Bridge club house at the home of his former club almost 12 months on, it's only now he can truly appreciate the importance of the 18 minutes that turned him into a professional footballer.

"It was a massive game. If I hadn't scored then maybe the club wouldn't have taken me on and I wouldn't be here now," he tells Matchday. "Looking back on it now, it changed my life because if it had gone differently then I could be somewhere else right now."

"I didn't really know what to expect going into the game because with some trials you can think you did well and they don't take you on, or you can play badly but the coaches see something they like in you.

his A-Levels to travel to clubs in hope of earning a contract, but this wasn't the first time the Cherries had taken a look at the winger. As a 12-year-old he had been invited to train with the academy for what ultimately proved to be an unsuccessful two-week period.

"I can't remember too much about how it went or whether I did well or not, but I remember being

"IT WAS A MASSIVE GAME. LOOKING BACK ON IT NOW, IT CHANGED MY LIFE. IF I HADN'T SCORED THEN MAYBE THE CLUB WOULDN'T HAVE TAKEN ME ON AND I WOULDN'T BE HERE NOW."

I just did the best I could and it has paid off nicely.

"At that point, I had a few offers from other clubs. But we spoke about what we could do and I knew Bournemouth was a good club that was on the rise. It was definitely the right decision to come here."

Cornick was no stranger to trials and regularly requested time off in the final year of the studies for called into a room for a chat with one of the coaches. They told me that I wasn't ready to get a contract with the academy and I just went back to my Sunday league club," he said.

"At the time, I thought that my chance was gone and I wasn't going to be a professional footballer, which is what every kid dreams of doing.

“But it has been strange the way it has all worked out and now it’s much better than when I was here before and I was told I wasn’t good enough.”

If things had worked out differently Cornick would now be a fresher in his first term at university, studying physiotherapy. But the chance to turn pro was something that he just couldn’t turn down.

“It was never really my intention to be a footballer. I had a set route that I was going to follow; I was going to go to school, do certain subjects and then go to university. I always had a plan, but when the interest came along it changed that,” he added.

“I could always go back and try to do what I wanted to do and become a physio, but footballers don’t have long careers. You can go to uni at any time, but you can’t say no to being a footballer.”

Only four miles separate Hurn Bridge and the Goldsands Stadium, but Cornick knows he has come a long way in a short space of time from when he was attracting scouts to Christchurch with his exciting wing play.

“I think I have improved a lot. My technique has got better, but I’m still trying to do what I used to do and take players on,” he added.

“I’m doing more in the gym with the fitness coaches because I’m not the strongest. There’s always extras on after training too and Purchy and the gaffer are encouraging me to do more and work on things.

“When I first joined I wanted to be in the development squad team and to see how well I could do, but things have moved very quickly to be involved with the first team,” he said.

“I have targets but it’s going to be difficult to get into the squad. I’m not setting my sights

“I THOUGHT THAT MY CHANCE WAS GONE AND I WASN’T GOING TO BE A PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALLER, WHICH IS WHAT EVERY KID DREAMS OF DOING.”

“It’s important to stick to your strengths and for me that’s running with the ball, but I know I have weaknesses I need to work on to become an all-round better player.”

However, the 18-year-old’s pace and raw talent has caught Eddie Howe’s attention and he has been included in two first team squads this season. Most recently Cornick was named amongst the substitutes for the away fixture against Leeds United, an evening he describes as a ‘crazy’ and a ‘ridiculous’ experience.

too high in terms of appearances, my main focus is just to improve. I know that I need to do well in the development games because that’s the main way I can impress.

“We will see what happens this season. Hopefully I will keep on improving and if I do well, then I will still be here doing what I do.”

AFC BOURNEMOUTH COMMUNITY SPORTS TRUST

TRUST PUT STUDENTS ON THE ROAD TO A CAREER IN SPORT

Almost 100 young people are working towards a career in the sports industry after signing up to a number of education programmes run by the AFC Bournemouth Community Sports Trust.

92 students are completing various A-Level and BTEC diplomas at the Goldsands Stadium, including those on the Trust's new football education scheme.

The programme is a new addition to the Trust's programme but has been run successfully in the past by Premier League clubs Chelsea and Tottenham Hotspur.

Meanwhile, students also completing studies at Bournemouth and Poole College, Harewood College and on the Isle of Wight are benefitting from working with the club.

In addition, the Trust will also work with the Bournemouth University varsity football teams as part of a four-year partnership, which was launched last week.

"It is great to see so many young people using their passion for sport and working towards a career on a daily basis," head of the Community Sports Trust Steve Cuss said.

"This is a great place to do that and we are able to provide students with experience of coaching in the in September 2014, and students who are interested in enrolling can download an application form from afcbcbst.co.uk.

FANS REWARDED WITH FREE PIZZA

The side may not have got the result they wanted, but Cherries supporters were rewarded for their loyalty following the 350-mile round trip to Leicester City with free pizza courtesy of Papa John's.

More than 1,000 supporters made the journey to the King Power Stadium to get behind their team in the defeat against the Foxes on Saturday.

And fans who travelled on the afcb.vitalfootball.co.uk sponsored supporters' coaches were greeted with a selection of free pizzas when they arrived back on the south coast.

The international pizza chain, which has stores in Winton, Poole and Christchurch, has a longstanding relationship with the club having backed the text man of the match service at home games.

Meanwhile, as part of a partnership with the Football League, supporters can enjoy exclusive offers, including half-price pizza every time the Cherries score twice in a game this season.

Papa John's will also be handing out half price vouchers to the travelling contingent upon their return from Burnley next weekend.

"It was a fantastic gesture and I would like to thank Papa John's on behalf of our supporters," commercial director Rob Mitchell said.

"The fans play a big part in our performances on the road and it is great that Papa John's have shown their appreciation for the support they give the players.

"This is a really exciting partnership and one that I'm sure the supporters will enjoy."

Andrew Gallagher, director of marketing for Papa John's UK, added, "As official pizza partner of the Football League we are constantly looking for ways in which we can benefit fans.

"And I think providing delicious Papa John's pizzas for free to those who have made the 350 mile round trip to support the Cherries is a fantastic way in which we can show our support.

"We're confident the fans will have enjoyed the pizza and I hope that they had a happy trip back after seeing a great performance from their team."

To be in with the chance of winning a signed shirt courtesy of the Papa John's text man of the match service, text 88101 during the match with the squad number of the player of your choice.

IN OUR THOUGHTS

The Cherries mourn the loss of two club greats who have sadly passed away over the last month.

LAURIE CUNNINGHAM

AFC Bournemouth was sad to learn of the passing of long-serving right-back Laurie Cunningham.

Laurie flew Mosquitos as an RAF pilot in 151 Squadron during the war and joined Barnsley in November 1945, before Cherries manager Harry Lowe brought him south in June 1948.

Forming a notable defensive partnership with Ian Drummond, he played for the Cherries in the FA Cup third round ties against holders Manchester United in 1948/49 and West Brom in 1954/55.

He made 273 league appearances for the Cherries and was an ever-present for four seasons.

Laurie passed away peacefully on 3rd October at the Royal Bournemouth Hospital aged 91.

AFC Bournemouth extends its condolences to Laurie's son Peter, daughter Susan and his family and friends.

HARRY HUGHES

AFC Bournemouth also mourn the loss of former captain Harry Hughes.

Harry was part of Cox's Pippins and skippered the Cherries to the FA Cup sixth round in 1956/57, overcoming Spurs and Wolves before succumbing to a narrow exit at home to Manchester United.

The towering centre-half was ever-present for two consecutive seasons and also played for Symingtons, Southport and Chelsea.

Signed by Jack Bruton in 1952, Harry made 86 appearances for the Cherries, scoring twice, before moving to Gillingham in 1958.

A broken leg ended his playing career in 1964 and after a spell in management with Woking and Guildford City, Harry spent 11 years as manager of the Tottenham Hotspur club shop.

AFC Bournemouth extends its condolences to Harry's wife Joyce and his family and friends.

WE'RE ON OUR WAY: BURNLEY

The trip to Turf Moor would have been one of the first Eddie Howe and Jason Tindall looked for when the fixture list was released this summer.

The Cherries' visit to the management duo's former club just over a year after they left will be one Howe and Tindall will relish – as well as the strong travelling contingent thanks to the club's offer of free coaches to the fixture.

With the Clarets, as we went to press, topping the Championship pile following victory over QPR, and with former Cherries players Sam Vokes and Danny Ings currently instrumental in their form, the game looks set to be a mouth-watering affair.

A stadium steeped in history and boasting a capacity of 22,000, away supporters are housed in the covered David Fishwick Stand at one end of the ground. This can house up to 2,100 supporters and facilities and views of the action are good, although there are a number of obstructive pillars to avoid.

With regards to food and drink, outlets in Yorkshire Street are largely restricted to home supporters, and so away supporters are advised to head towards the cricket club at the back of the away stand.

As mentioned, the Cherries have offered free coaches to the fixture, sponsored by afcbvitalfootball.co.uk, however this is subject to availability. Tickets for the coach must be bought in conjunction with a valid match ticket, and under-18s must be accompanied by an adult. There is a maximum of three youngsters per adult. The coach departs from the Goldsands Stadium at 7.30am.

Alternatively if travelling by car, the postcode you will need is BB10 4BX. Exit the M6 at Junction 29, going on to the M65. Leave at junction 10 and follow signs for Towneley Hall, which eventually goes past the ground.

Car parking is available nearby, with the cricket ground costing £6 or Woodgrove Car Park which is a five minute walk away and costs £5. The postcode is BB11 3RQ.

There are also two nearby train stations within walking distance of the ground – Burnley Central and Burnley Manchester Road, with the Central station being nearer, around 20 minutes away. From here, exit the station and walk down Centenary Way, and from there Turf Moor is clearly visible. When you reach the roundabout at the end of the road, turn right onto Yorkshire Street, which becomes Harry Potts Way. The ground is on your left hand side.

SHIRT TALES

THE 2003 PLAY-OFF FINAL WIN WAS ONE OF THE GREATEST DAYS IN THE CLUB'S HISTORY. GARETH DAVIES WRITES ABOUT THE SHIRT WORN IN THE FAMOUS 5-2 VICTORY OVER LINCOLN CITY.

If you ask most Cherries supporters to compile a best all time eleven, then many of the names that will crop up have captained the team. Almost all of them will never have lifted silverware however. That honour has been taken by just two armband wearers; Roger Brown - who although a decent player, would in all probability not make many all time elevens - and Carl Fletcher.

Brown's moment of glory came in the final of the Associate Members' Cup in 1984 at the not so glamorous location of Hull City's Boothferry Park. It was a shame that it wasn't until the next season that the final was moved to Wembley, but Bournemouth's day underneath the Twin Towers in that competition would come 13 years later. Fletcher's was the polar opposite in terms of grandeur as his glory moment came in the Millennium Stadium after the Cherries achieved promotion back to Division Two after thumping Lincoln City 5-2 in the Division Three play-off final of 2003.

This resounding victory was the final finale of the 2002/03 season, a campaign in which the Cherries plied their trade in the fourth tier for the first time for 20 years. A quite frankly dismal 2001/02 season saw Sean O'Driscoll's side crash through the relegation trap door at Wrexham on the final day.

The new surroundings for the side were accompanied by a brand new home shirt too. TFG Sports were back for a second season as suppliers, although this was the first home shirt they had designed from scratch. Their first home offering was identical to the design that Super League had produced for the 2000/01 season bar a different maker's logo and some tweaking with the sponsor's branding.

I am actually being a little economical with the truth when I say TFG designed the shirt because in essence they didn't. The club decided to let fans be creative and come up with ideas for the new shirt with the victor coming via a vote. The winning shirt was designed by a guy that I know, Terry Sowle. It would be fair to say that Terry had an unfair advantage as he is a graphic designer by trade, nevertheless, his design was the one used by TFG!

The shirt was predominantly red - a darker shade of red than we had seen before - with just one black stripe down the middle of the front. Seward continued as main sponsors under their Vauxhall franchise and their logo was positioned below the Cherries' crest and TFG insignia. A collar returned with white piping and to finish, the sleeves and main body had a black trim.

Cherries were expected to challenge for a swift return to Division Two, however things didn't get off to the best of starts as a victory didn't arrive until late August. O'Driscoll was warned that his job was on the line if things didn't start improving. Thankfully they did and some excellent home wins were recorded wearing this shirt, the return of Big Fletch in a televised win against Hartlepool live on Sky Sports was one of the best, along with victories over fellow promotion contenders Rushden & Diamonds and Wrexham. Unfortunately, away from home we struggled and, so at the business end of the season, Cherries had to be content with a place in the play-offs.

This meant a two legged semi-final against Bury with the first tie ending goalless at Gigg Lane. The following Tuesday Bournemouth put in a tremendous showing and after a 3-1 win, were Cardiff bound to take on Lincoln City.

Disappointingly, the club had decided to end their agreement with TFG sports before the season finished so no commemorative shirts were produced for the final. That aside, what a final it was! Lincoln were such a physical outfit, but on the big Millennium pitch we blew them away and were back up again after one season.

A shirt that is associated with success will always rank highly among supporters when deliberating about their favourites, something that was different and aesthetically pleasing is rare, just like Bournemouth captains lifting trophies. Unless you're Roger Brown or Carl Fletcher that is.

The Junior Cherries Christmas card competition is back!

Send in your Christmas card design on a piece of white paper that is no bigger than A5 (21cm x 15cm) in size for your chance to have your design printed and sent out on the Junior Cherries Christmas card, as well as being signed by your favourite player!

Not only that but the winner will receive a cartoon picture of themselves signed by the same person who created the caricatures of Eddie, Jason and the players! There will also be some exciting prizes available for two runners up too.

So get your entries in by next Friday (8th November) via the Club Store, by post or by email (juniorcherry@afcb.co.uk) and make sure you include your name, age and contact details too.
